CALL TO ORDER

Chair Whitelock called the work session to order at 5:30 pm

A. Council City Center Visioning

Chair Whitelock asked each Council Member to share their vision for the West Jordan City Center (approximately 7800 South Redwood Road). Council Member Jacob said he envisioned a second downtown area akin to Salt Lake City, with skyscrapers and parking garages, and encompassing a larger area than the property currently under consideration. Council Member Pack said he liked the idea of an amusement park on the west side of the City, and the idea of the City Center as a hub that would work in synergy with surrounding amenities. He said he liked the idea of people being able to live, work, and play all in the same area without having to travel a large distance.

Council Member Worthen referred to Pearl Street in Boulder, Colorado as an example of what she envisioned. She said she would not want to take out anyone's home in the process of developing the City Center. Council Member Bloom said she enjoyed visiting unique niche shopping areas, like Pearl Street which had areas with little shops, local businesses, and unique restaurants.

Council Member McConnehey commented that the subject property was a difficult property without easy freeway access. He mentioned Jordan Landing and Gardner Village, and expressed the opinion that if not done right, development at the City Center had the potential to cannibalize other commercial hubs of the City. He said his vision involved getting together with those who had an interest in the subject area and forming a group to collaborate together.

Vice Chair Green said he agreed with Council Member McConnehey in many ways. He said there were many businesses that had significantly invested in the City, and the City would need to work with the businesses to create something appropriate. He said he envisioned a walkable destination with ability to host arts, food, and music festivals with a vibrant attractive space for restaurants, hotels, a conference center, and a housing component. However, Vice Chair Green said he would not want a housing component where everyone left during the day and returned at night.

Chair Whitelock said the objective was to decide on 7-10 items, including ideas for aesthetics and functionality, for staff to use to put together a proposed plan for the City Center area. Council Member Jacob suggested the big vision should come first, with the practical details to be worked out later.

The Council participated in a poll conducted by Policy Analyst & Public Liaison Cassidy Hansen, with the following results. Responding to a question from Council Member McConnehey, Chair Whitelock stated a housing element must be included in a transit-oriented development (TOD).

- Which segment of the population do you envision as being the most inclined to LIVE in housing at City Center? (in order)
 - Recent college graduates/young professionals; Young families; Established professionals/families; Retirees; Elderly; People who qualify for affordable housing
- Which segment of the population do you envision being the most inclined to VISIT the development for its amenities? (in order)
 - Established professionals/families; Young families; Recent college graduates/young professionals; Retirees; People who qualify for affordable housing; Elderly
- Which programmed land uses are most important to you? (in order)
 - Professional office; Retail uses; Residential for lease; Residential for purchase
- What type of retail uses are most important to you for this development? (in order)
 - Restaurants; Entertainment venues; Independent specialty retailers; Grocery store; Drug store
- How important is it to the Council that City Center meets the Council’s goals of making West Jordan into a destination city?
 - Very important – 86%; Neutral – 14%
- Rank in order of importance the features that you feel will best achieve the goal of making West Jordan a “destination city”.
 - Walkable development; Unique restaurants; Unique architecture; Unique and aesthetically pleasing passive public spaces; Unique anchor/marquee retailer; Public or private recreation opportunities; Unique residential properties; Attractive landscaping; Efficient vehicle transportation network; Buildings of six stories or greater Council Member McConnehey commented that many of the elements he considered important were not included in the poll, and some of the elements included in the poll he considered unimportant. He said he would be uncomfortable with staff taking direction only from results of the poll. Chair Whitelock said she agreed and said the purpose of the poll was to help guide Council discussion.

- Chair Whitelock asked if it was important to the Council for the City Center to become a destination for the City, for the region, or worldwide.
 - A majority of the Council indicated a desire for the City Center to become a regional – world destination.

Vice Chair Green said he believed the City was not far off from having amenities and elements that would attract the world. He commented that individuals still traveled from around the world to visit and skate at the Olympic Oval in Kearns. Vice Chair Green expressed the opinion that the Olympics would return to Salt Lake City in the future and suggested that the City should be communicating with the Olympic Committee that West Jordan wanted something world class. Council Member Jacob said he agreed.

- Chair Whitelock asked if the Council wanted to reach out and work with current property/business owners to involve them in the planning process.

Council Member Pack said he believed it had been beneficial for the School District to move into the City Center during an economic downturn, but said he was not sure the School District was the highest and best use for a “destination” City Center. Vice Chair Green responded that most of the space used by the School District was office space and questioned why that was not highest and best use for a City Center. Council Member Jacob suggested the School District using a few floors of a ten-story office building would be a good use. He commented that a daytime tax base would be beneficial. Council Member Pack added that daytime office use would fuel restaurants and services. Council Member Bloom commented that a tall office building would not be unique and would not have a “destination” draw.

- Chair Whitelock asked if the Council was in favor of professional office space at the subject location.
 - A majority of the Council indicated they were in favor.
- Chair Whitelock asked if the Council was in favor of the Jordan School District staying at the subject location with a smaller footprint.
 - A majority of the Council indicated they were in favor.

Council Member McConnehey said he believed in order to accomplish something big without eminent domain, the City would need to collaborate with current property owners. Vice Chair Green said he was not willing to entertain eminent domain.

- Chair Whitelock asked if the Council would be willing to consider eminent domain for land north of TRAX from Redwood Road to 1300 West.
 - A majority of the Council indicated they were not in favor.

Council Office Director Alan Anderson commented that a majority of the land not owned by the School District was owned by private parties. Unless the City purchased the land, eminent domain would not be an applicable tool. He said the Council was shaping the Future Land Use Map for the TOD area. Council Member Pack said he wanted to make sure the City was ahead of the curve rather than playing catch-up with whatever was planned.

Vice Chair Green said the Council was trying to establish a vision for the City Center. He asked what fundamental principles the Council wanted for the land. He expressed the opinion that the elderly would be a category of citizen the City would want living in the City Center.

- Chair Whitelock asked if the Council wanted retail at the subject location.
 - A majority indicated they were in favor.

Chair Whitelock said she wanted whoever developed the area to understand that a commercial component would be required along with the residential component.

- Chair Whitelock asked if the Council believed the commercial component should be required to come with or prior to the housing.
 - A majority indicated agreement.

Council Member McConnehey said he believed the subject location was tricky for retail. He suggested the City might be better off looking for office or hotel use.

- Chair Whitelock asked if the Council would be in favor of including hotel use on the list of approved uses for the area.
 - A majority indicated they were in favor.

Council Member Bloom said she wanted unique, elevated commercial for the area. Vice Chair Green expressed the opinion that the area would need to be unique and significantly different from Gardner Village. He added that, with the housing element, some type of grocery store would need to be provided within walking distance.

- Chair Whitelock asked if the Council would be in favor of a live/work/play type of space.

Council Member Pack gave the example of The Gateway in Salt Lake City, with residences on top and businesses below. He suggested a recognizable anchor store would be needed to draw the public. He asked what type of vibe the Council had in mind and referred to Jackson Hole and Park City as examples.

- Chair Whitelock asked if it was important to the Council that the City Center be a walkable community.
 - A majority of the Council indicated it was.

Community Development Director Scott Langford thanked the Council for the discussion. He said the topic was challenging but had the potential to put West Jordan on the map. Mr. Langford thanked everyone involved for their efforts prior to the meeting and that evening. He commented that existing City Center Code was award winning and recognized as great transit-focused development. Mr. Langford spoke of House Bill 462 regarding station area plans, and the potential impact on West Jordan.

Chair Whitelock summarized that the Council wanted a unique destination that would include a housing component and could include professional office space. She said the Council wanted retail that would add to the City and not take away from existing businesses. Chair Whitelock stated the Council wanted commercial development to occur before or along-side residential development. She summarized that the Council would like to see a hotel in the space and wanted the area to be walkable. Commercial Jacob clarified that the hotel would only be one component of a much larger plan.

B. Budget Amendment Discussion

Vice Chair Green explained that during the first couple months of 2022, employees of the Police and Fire Departments were impacted with COVID-related illnesses, which increased overtime expenses. The Fire Department spent approximately $85,000 in overtime expenses, and the Police Department spent approximately $12,000 in overtime expenses. Vice Chair Green stated the Council had a policy to maintain a certain level of service for public safety departments and proposed a budget amendment to fund $85,000 for the Fire Department and $12,000 for the Police Department to allow service levels to remain unchanged for the remainder of the fiscal year. He proposed that the funds come out of reserves.

Administrative Services Director Danyce Steck commented that sales tax revenue in the budget needed to be amended to reflect actual activity during the recent holiday season and suggested using the increased sales tax revenue to fund the public safety overtime rather than reserves. Council Member McConnehey said he believed it was important to make sure any departments impacted in a similar way received the same support and said staff had reported to him that no other departments had been similarly impacted at that time. He emphasized that the impact on the budget was not due to poor budgeting, but due to circumstances beyond the ability to predict. Council Member McConnehey said the Council wanted to send the message that they did not expect to balance the budget on the backs of City employees and wanted citizens to know the Council was making sure all essential services were properly funded.

Vice Chair Green made a motion to direct staff to prepare a budget amendment using increased sales tax revenue in the amount of $97,000 to cover the loss in the Police ($12,000) and Fire ($85,000) Department budgets. Council Member McConnehey seconded the motion, which passed by unanimous vote (7-0).

Ms. Steck said the budget amendment would be presented to the Council at the March 23, 2022 meeting.

C. Flag Poles at Rodeo Grounds Discussion

Vice Chair Green proposed that the budget amendment presented at the March 23, 2022 meeting include funding for rodeo ground improvements to place permanent flag poles at the rodeo arena, as previously discussed by the Council. He proposed funding the improvements from Council Contingency and said the goal would be to have the poles in place prior to the start of the Western Stampede. Council Member Jacob expressed the hope that the flag poles would be installed in a place they would be desired regardless of subsequent changes made to the venue. Chair Whitelock suggested the poles be installed in a manner that they could be reused if they needed to be moved in the future.

Vice Chair Green made a motion to recommend to staff to make a budget amendment in the amount of $20,000 out of Council Contingency for flag poles at the Rodeo Grounds with the conditions expressed. Council Member McConnehey seconded the motion, which passed by unanimous vote (7-0).

I, Cindy Quick, hereby certify that the foregoing minutes represent an accurate summary of what occurred at the meeting held on March 9, 2022. This document constitutes the official minutes for the West Jordan City Council Meeting.

Callean Laird said she recently became aware the City was planning to break ground for a cultural art building despite being $2 million short of the estimated cost. She said she had great empathy for those who shared their craft and passion for the arts but expressed the opinion that an arts building was a want, not a need. Ms. Laird said she believed an additional City building would contribute to the need for increased taxes and suggested West Jordan should use the Mid-Valley Performing Arts Center instead of building a new facility. She encouraged Council Members to take a tour of the Mid-Valley Performing Arts Center and reminded the Council that the money involved belonged to all citizens.

Alexandra Eframo said a couple years ago she donated money to the West Jordan K9 Fund so that each dog would have their own vest. She felt that what happened to K9 Officer Maya was a travesty and believed she should have had her vest on. Ms Eframo mentioned that the incident broke her heart.
